

Rajiv Aarogyasri (Telangana) — Reference Summary

Reference summary compiled from public sources (early 2026) for a student demo. Figures may change; verify against the official portal before relying on them. Not an official document.

Overview

Rajiv Aarogyasri is the flagship community health insurance scheme of the Government of Telangana, administered by the Aarogyasri Health Care Trust. It provides free, cashless treatment for serious ailments requiring hospitalisation and surgery, for economically weaker families.

Coverage

Coverage was enhanced to up to Rs 10,00,000 per family per year (from the earlier Rs 5,00,000) in December 2023, on a family floater basis.

The scheme covers a large list of medical and surgical procedures across cardiac care, cancer treatment, neurology, kidney dialysis and transplant, orthopaedics, burns and organ transplantation. Selected high-end procedures such as cochlear implant surgery with auditory verbal therapy have specific higher sub-limits. Pre-existing conditions of listed diseases are covered, and one-year follow-up packages are available for many procedures.

Eligibility

The applicant must be a permanent resident of Telangana.

The family must be Below Poverty Line (BPL), typically evidenced by a White Ration Card issued by the Civil Supplies Department.

Aadhaar should be linked to the family's records. Beneficiaries use an Aarogyasri health card at network hospitals.

Cashless process

For BPL / White Ration Card holders, cashless services can be availed at empanelled government and private network hospitals. Patients may approach a network hospital or a Primary Health Centre; referral and pre-authorisation are handled by the hospital's Aarogyamitra help desk.

Residents without a White Ration Card who suffer from identified diseases may obtain a CMCO referral card with a defined coverage limit.

Documents commonly required

White Ration Card, Aadhaar card, address proof, and any referral or medical records. The Aarogyasri health card is used for identification at hospitals.
